INFORMATION ABOUT THIS PROCEEDING

The defendant (also referred to as “respondent”) who, as third-party petitioner, is making claims against you in the attached third-party petition is JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. (“JPMorgan Chase”).

The plaintiffs (also referred to as “petitioners”) who commenced this lawsuit are Aldo Vera, Jr.; Alfredo Villoldo, individually, and Gustavo Villoldo, individually and as the administrator, executor and personal representative of the Estate of Gustavo Villoldo Argilagos; and Jeanette Fuller Hausler and William Fuller. The petitioners all have a judgment against the Republic of Cuba, Fidel Castro Ruz, Raúl Castro Ruz, and the Cuban Revolutionary Armed Forces. Their lawsuit, commenced by filing with the Court a document entitled the “Amended Omnibus Petition for Turnover” (which the printed portion of the third-party summons refers to as a “complaint”), asks the Court to enter an order directing JPMorgan Chase and other bank respondents to turn over to the petitioners certain funds that the respondents are holding in blocked accounts. The funds in those accounts were derived from wire transfers that were blocked under sanctions imposed by the United States government against Cuba.

Despite what the printed portion of the third-party summons says, JPMorgan Chase is not making a claim against you for the payment of money. JPMorgan Chase is bringing this lawsuit against you only so that you have the opportunity (i) to make a claim to some or all of the funds being held in any given blocked account, if you have a basis for such a claim, or (ii) to oppose the turnover of such funds to the petitioners or any other party, if you have a sufficient interest in the funds to permit you to oppose any such turnover. The relief that JPMorgan Chase is seeking in this lawsuit, described more fully in the attached third-party petition, consists mainly of a discharge releasing it from any present or future liability as to the blocked accounts at issue.

Although the printed portion of the third-party summons correctly states that you are not required to respond to the petitioners’ complaint, you are required to respond to the third-party petition if you want to assert a claim to any one or more of the blocked accounts at issue. You will otherwise waive your right to object to the turnover of the blocked funds to the petitioners or to argue that you yourself are entitled to such funds.

If you are a foreign state, a political subdivision thereof, or an agency or instrumentality of a foreign state, then under Section 1608(d) of the Foreign Sovereign Immunity Act of 1976, 28 U.S.C. § 1608(d) (the “FSIA”), you have 60 days from the time the third-party petition was served on you under Section 1608 of the FSIA to file your answer to the petition. That 60-day period applies even though a shorter period may be referred to in the printed portion of the third-party summons.
